SENATOR TAFT
Pilot "Did a great job"

By The Associated Press

VASSALBORO, Me., March 15—A plane carrying U. S. Senator Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) on a campaign swing through Maine crashed today on the ice-covered Kennebec river but the Republican presidential candidate escaped without injury.

Two others with Taft in the single motored Stinson —Senator Owen Brewster (R-Me) and Pilot John T. Clark —were not hurt.

Governor Horace A. Hildreth said the plane's engine quit five minutes after the takeoff from the Augusta airport, about 10 miles distant.

The plane was slightly damaged.

Senator Brewster said Clark, director of the Maine aeronautics commission, "did a great job" in landing the ship.

Sen. Taft, Sen. Brewster and Clark walked about half a mile with some difficulty through deep snow to the Augusta-Waterville highway. Brewster then telephoned to Hildreth.

He said the plane came down about seven miles south of Waterville.

Mrs. Taft was on her way to Bangor in Governor Hildreth's automobile.

The car was intercepted here and the senators continued on to Bangor with her.

Hildreth said the senators were making the 70-mile trip by air to inspect the Old Town airport, 15 miles north of Bangor.

The Army's Dow field in Bangor is being closed to civilian traffic, he said, and Taft and Brewster were interested in the alternate field because of senate action due on it soon.

Mrs. F. A. Lind, proprietor of the Colonial Inn, which the two senators reached in their enforced hike, said "they looked all right and were in good spirits."

At the scene of the crash, the river runs between steep pine-covered banks. The ice was rough.

State police were posted at the plane.

Orders Agencies To Keep Loyalty Data

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 15— President Truman today ordered Federal agencies to turn down any requests from Congress or the courts for secret papers on loyalty investigations of government employes.

He instructed agency chiefs to refer any demand, including any subpoena "to the office of the President for such response as the President may determine to be in the public interest in the particular case."

The order in effect backed up Secretary of Commerce Harriman who has refused to give a House committee papers dealing with the department's investigation of Dr. Edward U. Condon's loyalty.

SIX DIE IN BLAST AT LOUISVILLE, KY.

By The Associated Press

LOUISVILLE, Ky., March 15— Six workmen were killed and at least 26 others were injured here today in an explosion at the big plant of the International Harvester Farm Equipment Company.

The cause of the explosion had not been determined hours after the blast demolished a 150 by 75 foot brick and steel building in which engines made in the nearby main plant were tested.

Normally about 56 of the company's 4,000 employes worked in the test building but the explosion took place just as the night shift was leaving and the day shift was arriving so officials were not sure how many men were in the building at the time.

Fire followed the blast but soon was extinguished by city and county firemen in rescue work which was hampered by intense heat and the fact that the basement of the building was flooded.

There were two 5,000 gallon fuel tanks under the test building but firemen said they apparently did not explode as first reported.

U.S. Opposes Complete Elimination of UN Veto

By The Associated Press

LAKE SUCCESS March 15— The United States declared today it is opposed to complete elimination of the veto in the United Nations security council.

The U.S. postion was outlined by Philip C. Jessup, American representative in the UN little assembly. Jessup said this country wants use of the veto drastically restricted by agreement among the big powers, but does not want to abolish the veto.

Peace Shows An About-Face

Truman Sees Reversal of Policy Toward Russia Since Potsdam.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 15 — American policy toward Russia has swung—or been pushed by the Soviets—to almost the opposite pole since President Truman met Premier Stalin at Potsdam two and a half years ago. The Chief Executive came home from that historic British-Soviet-American meeting saying: The three powers "are now more closely than ever bound together in determination to achieve a just and lasting peace."

Today the President admits his faith in eventual world peace is somewhat shaken although he still believes peace is attainable. He has committed the United States to oppose the spread of Communism anywhere. To that end the state department is said to be studying ways to back up American economic aid to western Europe with strong political action and possibly military support.

Study Emergencies

The President's military leaders —Secretary of Defense Forrestal and the top land, sea and air chiefs—have been meeting in Key West, Fla., to determine exactly how the armed forces should operate in event of a war. Congressional leaders are putting the Marshall plan for European recovery through the legislative mill on a speedup schedule. Secretary of State Marshall has cautioned that delay in action much beyond month's end might strengthen the communist bid for power in Italy at the April 18 elections there.

From outside the government, but reflecting views widely held among officials former Secretary of State James F. Byrnes has called on the administration to act now to block any Russian threat to Greece, Turkey, Italy or France.

Advises Direct Warning

In a speech in South Carolina Saturday Byrnes urged the government to serve direct warning on Moscow it will not see those nations endangered. He advocated backing up the warning with a revived draft law. These activities represent the result of what administration officials regard as a long and persistent effort on the part of the American government first to get along with Russia but, failing that, to hold communist expansion in check.

NEW YORK, March 15—President Truman will review the St. Patrick's day parade here Wednesday.

Sponsors of the Fifth Avenue march say it will be first time in the long history of the parade that a president has been in the reviewing stand.

Mr. Truman also will speak at the dinner of the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick in the city of New York Wednesday at the Hotel Astor.

H. E. M'KEEVER DIES INSTANTLY; WIFE INJURED

Local Couple Not Yet Recovered from Accident Last Fall.

Harold E. McKeever, 35, of 862 Merkle avenue, was killed instantly and his wife Mrs. Margaret McKeever, 35, was hospitalized with fractures of both legs and head injuries when a racing motorcycle crashed into a crowd at Daytona Beach, Fla., Saturday afternoon during 100 mile national championship novice motorcycle race.

The fatal accident occurred when a machine driven by Armin Hostetter of Yonkers, N. Y., started to pull off the track into the repair pits in the center of the course and was struck by a second machine driven by Charles McHale of Denver, Colo., catapulting McHale's machine into the crowd. Conditions of the drivers is unknown.

McKeever and his wife left Marion, March 7, accompaning Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Dane Jr., of 425 West Center street on a motor trip to Daytona Beach where Mr. Dane, a local motorcycle dealer, was to assist Gibson Keller of Upper Sandusky and Art Heck of Willard, in preparing their machines to compete in the 200 mile national championship expert motorcycle race which was won yesterday afternoon by Floyd Emde of California. McKeever and his wife, both avid motorcyclists were not fully recovered from broken backs, suffered in a motorcycle crash 2 miles north of Bucyrus last September, which hospitalized them for 18 days. They were wearing braces at the time of the fatal accident.

Both the Danes and McKeevers were staying at the Sunnyside Beach apartments, near the race course, and walked down to the novice race together. They became separated in the large crowd at the track shortly before the start of the race.

Information received here by Mrs. Glenn Dane Sr. at 1 a. m. this morning by long distance phone from Mrs. Glenn Dane Jr. at Daytona, calling from Halifax hosptial, indicated doctors believed that with good luck Mrs. McKeever could be moved from the hospital in about two weeks. Her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Otis Dawson of 257 Oak street, left by train at 9:51 p. m. last night for Daytona Beach to be at her bedside.

Search for Parents

A seven-state search by state police and highway patrolmen is now in progress in an effort to locate Mr. and Mrs. L. R. McKeever of 1047 New Tampa road, Lakeland, Fla., former Marysville residents, who are enroute from Lakeland, with their daughter, Mrs. Norman Rosterfer, to her home in Ridgeway, O. They had not been reached at noon today and have no knowledge of the death of their son. They left Lakeland early last Friday morning with the intention of "taking it easy" on their trip north.

Harold McKeever was a native of Raymond, Union county, and attended Raymond public school. He served with the Coast Guard during the war. He was employed as a diesel engine mechanic at the Erie railroad shops, prior to his accident last September but had been unable to work lately because of his injured back.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete pending the notification of McKeever's parents.

10-Mile-a-Minute Jet Planes Take Off From Navy Carriers

By The Associated Press

ABOARD USS BOXER, AT SEA, March 15—The Navy's seagoing air arm is in the process of conversion to 10-mile-a-minute jet planes.

This was announced today by the Navy following history-making trials aboard this big Essex-class aircraft carrier last week, when for the first time Navy jet fighters operated from a carrier flight deck under routine conditions at sea.

The Navy said it expects the use of jets will have been expanded throughout the fleet within a year. Initially only fighters will be jet propelled.

Already the Navy has two jet fighter squadrons in commission, one on the Pacific coast and one in the Atlantic. Fighting squadron 5-A in the Pacific is using the North American "Fury," designated the FJ-1. Fighting 17-A in the Atlantic uses McDonald FH-1's.

First Carrier Tests

The successful carrier tests for jet aircraft aboard the Boxer were the first of their kind. The Royal Air Force as long ago as December 1945 successfully made one experimental launching with a jet. Recently naval experiments were conducted under special test conditions. But until last Wednesday there had been no jet operations at sea under normal carrier conditions and with service pilots.

The 10-mile-a-minute FJ-1's thundered on and off the Boxer's flight deck with ease. They were launched successfully both under their own power and by catapult.

But despite the 4,000-pound thrust developed by the FJ-2's straight ram duct engine, it was apparent the slow acceleration of the jet-propelled plane would bar launchings under its own power as routine procedure. This is a handicap inherent in all present jet propulsion.

Promising Results

On the other hand, the ease with which the jets were catapulted pointed to this method of launching as most likely under present jet development.

The jets took off easily enough with a full deck run. But under combat conditions it would not be feasible to keep the entire flight deck clear to launch only one plane at a time.

The Boxer's two-deck catapults, however, shot the six-ton fighters into the air at about 145 miles an hour—well over flying speed.

The FJ-1 is a sleek, stubwinged plane rated by the Navy simply at "more than 550 miles an hour." Publicized figures show that it has flown much better than 600 miles an hour, however.

It has a rate of climb of a mile a minute, an official flying time of four hours, and a range of more than 1,500 miles. Its axial jet engine is manufactured by General Electric.

COMMITTEE SPLITS ON RENT CONTROL

Rep. Smith of Marion Among Opponents of Measure.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 15 — The house banking committee split in three directions today on rent control. Blocs of Republicans and Democrats—for different reasons —assailed legislation approved by the committee.

Present federal controls expire March 31.

As the house was called to open debate—

Six committee Democrats filed a minority report that the bill would mean decontrol in many localities with rent hikes as high as 50 per cent.

Legality of the bill's "local option" power for rent control boards was questioned.

Four Committee Republicans presented "minority views" saying renters know "political control over rents is wrong." They said removal of control would make available 2,000,000 more living quarters.

The majority of the 37-member committee filed with the house the formal report explaining the measure and defending the "local option" provision.

The four Republicans presenting "minority views" were Rep. Frederick C. Smith, of Ohio; Hope of Nebraska, Brown of Michigan and Fletcher of California. They expressed fear that rent controls will lead to [illegible] wages, hence to [illegible] you must [illegible]. They

TODAY IS DEADLINE FOR INCOME TAX

Returns Postmarked Before Midnight Will Be Under Wire.

It's blue Monday for scores of persons who postponed their annual visit to the office of the collector of internal revenue until the eleventh hour. Friday and today found long queues in the hallway at the Citizens' building waiting to give an accounting of their 1947 earnings.

There will be no extension of office hours and doors will be closed at 5 p. m. John Sells, deputy collector, said today. Those in line will be taken care of, he stated. Returns bearing a mailing date up to midnight tonight will get under the wire, otherwise there will be a penalty.

The same deadline applies to the filing of estimates of the 1948 income, an Associated Press dispatch from Washington states.

In general these estimates must be filed by persons with income of $6,000 or more or those who expect $100 or more income from which no tax is withheld.

The treasury expects $5,000,000 returns on 1947 income. Most of the $200,000,000,000 in individual taxes already has been collected through wage withholding or quarterly payments on estimates.

The fact that congress is working on a tax cut has no bearing on the filing of estimates for 1948. Returns will be based on the current tax rates.

CABINET CHOICE NOT FOR DIXIE

President Truman Declines Suggestion He Pick Southerner.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 15 — President Truman who said today to have turned down suggestions he put a southerner in his cabinet. Between now and July Mr. Truman must pick a successor to Clinton Anderson. Anderson will quit as secretary of agriculture as soon as congress ends to run for the senate in New Mexico.

Some administration lieutenants were said to have suggested that the President might cool off the southerners bucking his civil rights program by picking an outstanding agricultural leader from south of the Mason and Dixon line to succeed Anderson. But Mr. Truman was reliably reported to have vetoed this as an obvious—and probably ineffective —gesture that might boomerang outside the South. The guessing —and it is only that—is that the office will go to a midwesterner.

Attorney General Clark is the only southerner now serving as a member of the President's official family. Senator Sparkman (D-Ala) told a reporter he thinks Dixie would be pleased if it got additional recognition in the cabinet. Despite his doubts that there will be any such appointment, Sparkman said he thinks the South's overall goal ought to be "a fair share in everything." The Alabama senator has opposed Mr. Truman's civil rights program, just as have his southern colleagues. But he wants the issue to be settled within the party.

Seven southern governors had other ideas, however. They issued a new weekend blast here against the President's plea to congress for enactment of anti-lynching, anti-poll tax, anti-Jim Crow and antijob discrimination laws. The governors said in no uncertin terms they plan to see to it their states deny their electoral votes to any nominee who backs that program. President Truman's party spokesman, Democratic national chairman J. Howard McGrath, gave no ground in the face of this attack.

ARABS, JEWS WAGE FIERCEST BATTLE YET

By The Associated Press

JERUSALEM, March 15—The fiercest battle yet waged in the sands of southern Palestine was reported in its third day today with Jewish and Arab fatalities already 28. Mired by mud and slowed by driving rains, Jewish forces were said by a Haganah informant to have driven a wedge to the aid of the beleaguered settlement of Gath. The death toll in the battle so far, according to a Haganah version quoted by the Palestine Post, is 28 Arabs and eight Jews.

Haganah is the militia of the Jewish agency. The Palestine Post is an English-language daily published by a Jewish firm. Haganah sources said forces rushing to lift the Arab siege of Gath had blasted the municipal building, post office and eight stores and houses in the Arab village of El Faluja. This is about 20 miles Northeast of Gaza in the Negeb—southern desert.

LEAVE PITS TO BACK DEMAND FOR PENSIONS

Work Stoppage Affects More Than One-Third of Nation's Miners.

By The Associated Press

PITTSBURGH, March 15—More than one-third of the nation's 400,000 soft coal miners quit work today to support the demand of John L. Lewis for miner pensions.

An early tabulation showed more than 155,000 miners idle in eight states as follows West Virginia, 80,000; Kentucky, over 40,000; Pennsylvania, 27,800; Illinois, 13,000; Ohio 6,500, Alabama, 6,000; Indiana, 2,000; Tennessee, 300.

The U. S. Steel Corp. reported nine of its 14 western Pennsylvania pits were closed with 7,000 miners idle. The corporation expected its coal output would drop today to about 20,000 tons, or one-third of capacity.

The Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp. reported all its Pennsylvania and West Virginia mines were closed, and 4,600 miners idle.

Republic was another steel corporation affected, with three Pennsylvania mines down. The output of steel company-owned pits is used in making fuel for steel mills.

Commercial mines, too, whose production is sold on the open markets, began to shut. The giant Pittsburgh coal company reported at least nine of its mines closed. Owners of some independent mines expected the movement to spread.

Back Up Lewis' Demands

Miners said the walkouts backed up demands of Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, for $100 monthly pensions for miners.

Two hundred and ten miners reported to a Frick pit at nearby Bridgeville but returned home. The firm's mine at Muse, Pa., a few miles distant, did not open. The Bridgeville pit produces about 1,800 tons daily; the Muse operation about 5,000 tons.

The Bridgeville diggers milled around the mine lamp house but made no attempt to obtain their working lights.

Then as one of the miners "threw away his water"—the traditional signal of a work stoppage in which the miner pours his day's supply of drinking water on the ground—the men walked away toward their homes.

The morning sirens sounded as usual but went unheeded by the miners, the first at 5:30 a. m. to signify work was scheduled today. The second was sounded at 6 a. m., to prepare the miners for work. The third at 6:20 a. m. would have sent the first group toward the pits and the final call at 6:45 a. m., was the normal sound to begin operations.

But the miners were on their way home.

Sent Word Friday

Lewis sent word to union locals Friday that operators had "dishonored" the 1947 wage agreement by not agreeing to pay pensions out of the union's welfare fund. He asked the locals to meet and inform him of their reaction to his stand.

The bushy-browed labor leader gave the first hint of possible trouble over pensions when last Feb. 2 he served notice on the operators he felt free to take "independent action." He never elaborated on what he meant—and didn't elaborate either last Friday when he asked his rank and file for their "reaction" to his latest action.

The current contract does not expire until June 30 but it contains the meaningful phrase that miners will work only so long as they are "able and willing."

Lewis has demanded $100 monthly pensions for miners 60 years of age or more who have 20 years' service in the pits. The operators contend "it's too expensive." At present the welfare fund, made up of 10-cent-a-ton-royalty on coal paid by the operators, contains $30,000,000.

"Reaction" from Pennsylvania

Most of the "reaction" to Lewis' blast at the operators came from the rich western Pennsylvania coal fields. Mine locals which voted not to work today included those at the Robena Mine of H. C. Frick Coke Co., the world's largest coal mine; the National 2 Mine of H. C. Frick; and Vesta 5 of Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp.

Plans for the organization of ten new senior Scouting units were laid Thursday night at a meeting of Marion District Boy Scouts commissioners at the Y. M. C. A.

Principal speaker was Ralph Mozo of New York City, assistant national director of senior scouting. In formation of the ten senior units set up for youths 15 years of age and older, assistance by manufacturers was recommended. These are the best sponsors for this place of scouting, Mozo pointed out.

Accordingly the Manufacturers Council will be called upon to assist in recruiting new memberships in the senior program. Also to assist in the membership campaign are various service organizations and church groups.

Formation of the new units will be a part of the Harding area drive this year to recruit 1,000 new boy scouts, the area's quota of the million new scouts asked for this year by President Truman. Assisting in the work will be senior field commissioner Mitchell Reen and assistants, Dana Kirtz, Richard Smith, Glenn H. Wymer and Roy Buckingham.

Harding council president Dr. Robert T. Gray, of Prospect, was present at the meeting and pledged full cooperation of the council in the senior scouting project. Following the meeting, commissioners attended charter presentation ceremonies and inspection held at the Navy club for the Sea Scout unit sponsored by the Navy club.

Norman Thomas on 500th Town Meeting Program

Norman Thomas, Socialist leader and former Marionite, will speak on the five-hundredth broadcast of "America's Town Meeting of the Air" program over the ABC network Tuesday, March 16 at 8:30 p. m. eastern time. He was a member of the original panel of the program at its inception 13 years ago when the subject presented was "Can Way America—Fascism, Communism, or Democracy?" The same subject will be discussed on next Tuesday's program.

During its long period on the air the program has presented 1,176 speakers of which 250 have been political leaders and statesmen, 200 educators, 250 journalists and authors, 30 religious leaders and sociologists.

The program is under the direct supervision of George V. Denny Jr. president, founder, and moderator of the show. The broadcast Tuesday will be carried by station WMRN, local ABC affiliate.

P. H. C. MEETS

A meeting of Marion Circle 1 of P. H. C. Friday night at lodge hall was preceded by a St. Patrick's day penny supper which was reported well attended. Arrangements were made for a social hour at the next meeting, and it was announced that no meeting will be held on Good Friday. Special awards went to Mrs. Madeline Manley and C. L. Smithson. Both degree and drill team practice will be held following the next meeting, it was stated.

The lack of billets, it explained, was caused by a furnace repair and expansion program that forced a reduction of semifinished output at the Lorain works of National Tube Co.

MUSTEROLE LINIMENT

Your Good Health

By DR. HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

Symptoms of St. Vitus Dance

Chorea or St. Vitus dance is one of the mysterious ailments of the nervous system which seems to attack children almost exclusively.

Starting with restlessness and the inability to sit still, it usually goes on until it has the child twitching and jerking almost constantly. These spasms or contractions of the muscles are entirely out of the child's control and may become so severe as to make it impossible for him to feed himself or to talk properly. It is scarcely any wonder that it often changes an obedient, happy child into one that is cross and irritable.

It is believed that this disorder may come from the same cause as rheumatic fever, a condition in which there are pain and swelling in the joints, together with more or less severe heart damage. And it is true that many children who have rheumatic fever also develop chorea. It has recently been suggested, however, that in many cases chorea or St. Vitus dance occurs alone and has, in these instances, no relation to rheumatic fever.

There is a test known as the sedimentation test, which helps to tell when infections of any sort are present in the body. This test is carried out by determining how rapidly the blood cells settle out of the blood, in a very small tube. If the child with chorea has a normal sedimentation rate and the heart is not affected, it is thought that the condition is not due to the same cause as rheumatic fever.

Over one-half of more than 100 children with chorea who were studied between 1934 and 1947 had no evidence of rheumatic infection.

On the other hand, when the sedimentation rate is increased in a child with chorea, active rheumatic fever is usually found to be present. Other signs of acute rheumatic fever were noted in eight out of ten of the children who had a high sedimentation rate, and almost two-thirds of these eventually had some involvement of the heart.

It is interesting to note that those children who developed chorea without rheumatic fever suffered most severely from the emotional disturbances and changes in disposition which seem to be a part of this disorder. Willfulness, outbreaks of temper, and odd behavior of all sorts were far more noticeable in this group than in those where chorea accompanied rheumatic fever. On the other hand, there is a greater tendency for the chorea to recur in the rheumatic group.

Though much research on the subject has been done, we still do not know the cause either for rheumatic fever or for chorea, or the exact relationship between them. It may be that this new view of chorea as something quite apart from rheumatic fever will give medical scientists a new clue to the cause of both of these afflictions of childhood.

Chorea usually can be cleared up with such methods as the fever treatment, or the injection of typhoid vaccine to produce fever attacks. Of course, complete rest is important, and sedatives or quieting drugs also may be useful.

Questions and Answers

A Reader: I am a high school boy of fifteen, five feet, four inches tall. I come from a short family. Is there any way I could add a few inches to my height?

Answer: Many doctors employ hormone injections to increase the height of very young children. At your age these injections would be worthless. Some boys, however, continue growing until they are 17 years of age. The important thing to remember is that success in life depends on what you do, what you make of yourself, and not on your height or physical appearance.

It is a hearing device so small that it fits in the hand and enables thousands to enjoy sermons, music and friendly companionship. GALION CHURCH HAS DEDICATION SERVICES

Special to The Star

GALION—Members of Seventh-day Adventist denomination, here today look forward to a revival of their faith and worship services in a new church home. The $65,000 brick church was dedicated debt free, during a service at 2 p. m., Saturday, for which D. A. Ochs, elder, president of the Columbia union conference of Seventh Day Adventists, comprising Ohio and six other states, of Takoma Park, Washington, D. C., was principal speaker.

Dignitaries from the Ohio conference of the church and from the surrounding community, were present. About 325 persons filled the new auditorium for the service which opened with a song service conducted by W. M. Robbins, elder, president of the Ohio conference of the Seventh Day Adventists, Mt. Vernon. Prayer was offered by F. C. Webster, elder, conference Sabbath school secretary of Mt. Vernon, and a welcome extended by the local pastor Elder E. K. Lehnhoff.

The presentation was made of an American flag by Scarbrough Post No. 243, The American Legion, and a response given by Mr. Lehnhoff. A vocal selection by Elder Earl Robbins preceded the sermon by Elder Ochs. The dedicatory prayer was offered by W. M. Robbins, elder, and a vocal number by Mrs. W. M. Robbins.

The church history was given by Charles French Sr., local elder, after which he presented to the Ohio conference the deed of the church. Offertory prayer was by E. F. Herzel, elder of Canton, former pastor of the Galion charge. Elder C. C. Morris, secretary-treasurer of the conference, also participated in services. The church was decorated with flowers; two of the floral gifts were from Donald Chandler of Galion, and Mrs. John DeHaiter of Worthington. The services drew many friends of the congregation to Galion from Marion, Mansfield, Mt. Vernon and elsewhere.

Dedicatorial services opened Friday night with a young people's program for the district, in charge of Robert W. Holst, singing evangelist, assisting Elder Lehnhoff. Saturday morning there were special services during the Sabbath school hour, Charles Hinckley, superintendent, in charge. This service was highlighted by presentation of the mission story by Dr. M. H. Vinkel of Crestline and of the lesson by F. C. Webster, elder, conference Sabbath school secretary of Mt. Vernon. The music feature was a vocal duet by Mrs. Robert French and Mrs. Richard Dickinson of the congregation. For the Sabbath worship hour Saturday morning, Elder W. M. Robbins brought the message. Also his son, Elder Earl Robbins of Dayton, singing evangelist, appeared. Invocation was by Dr. Vinkel and prayer by C. C. Morris, elder. A vocal selection was presented by Charles Boyts, manager of the Adventist book house at Mt. Vernon.

Love's Perilous Path

By ADELE GARRISON

THERE was only one remedy for this grotesque absurdity, and I used it ruthlessly. Throwing back my head, I sent peals of laughter into the room, and did not stop until George rushed toward me. I wondered wildly, if he meant to clap his hands over my mouth, but his only action was to grip my shoulder tightly.

"Mrs. Graham!" he said. "Please stop! You are hysterical! I am sorry I startled you with the truth, but I had to tell you."

"I am not hysterical," I said. "Please take your hand from my shoulder, and go back to your chair. I want you sitting while I tell you why what you have just said has so amused me."

He jerked his hand away petulantly, walked back to his chair, and sat down in it.

"I am afraid you have a distorted sense of humor," he said loftily. "I—Mary and I—always have found you so sympathetic before."

"Do you dare to tell me, Georges," I asked, "that Mary has told you she cares for you instead of for her husband?"

"Of course, not in so many words," he said. "Mary is too sophisticated for that, but I can tell from her—"

"Her what?" I asked. "Her refusal to give you the assurance in writing that she had forgiven you for your attempt to kiss her forcibly on the occasion of your last parting? Is that the premise on which you are basing the theory that Mary is in love with you?"

His face was almost purple with rage now, and he sprang from his chair.

"Did she dare to show those sacred letters to you?" he demanded.

"She didn't have the time nor the opportunity," I said. "But she told me their contents, and told me she intended to turn them over to me."

"That is because she will be afraid to have them around where Noel might find them," he said, and now there was a tinge of complacency in his tone. "He is so eaten up with jealousy, the poor devil. Well, of course, he will have real cause soon in all probability. But my poor Olivia! Is it not a too cruel fate that has brought this awful complication into our lives?"

I looked at him steadily. Yes, he really believed what he was saying. He had deluded himself into thinking that Mary was in love with him.

"Georges," I said, making my voice kindly now, "you are so terribly mistaken on this, that I do not know where to begin talking, that I may prove your error to you.

"I know you have not heard from Mary in reply to your letters, and from what little I gleaned from your request to her, which she told me was the reason for your letters, her last farewell to you was humiliating to you, and distasteful to her. On what then, do you base this ridiculous theory—'cock-eyed' my husband—would call it—that Mary has a romantic feeling for you?"

Inter-Service Bickering

SECRETARY FORRESTAL has indicated that the long wrangle over the roles of the Marine Corps and naval aviation must be settled forthwith. Since the adoption of the armed services unification act, these points have been the principal stumbling blocks in the way of peace and cooperation among the services.

The Army view regarding the Marine Corps is that it should be held to brigade size and operate without such subsidiary services as engineers, artillery and aviation. The Marines and their Navy friends have always maintained the corps as a little Army complete within itself.

The Air Force and the Navy disagree over the mission of naval aviation. The Navy view is that the Air Forces' task is to shield the United States while building up a strategic long-range bombing force, leaving the early stages of warfare to carrier-based bombers. The roles of both services were written into law in terms which elicited apparent mutual agreement. But now that terms of the act are about to be put in force, disagreements on interpretation have broken out.

In the interest of security, it is important that these differences be ironed out without delay. Which service does what is of secondary importance But that each task is carried out without bickering, with responsibilities and assignments clearly defined, is of prime importance. As head of the national defense establishment, Secretary Forrestal, if necessary, should resolve these differences the way a military commander sometimes quells contentious subordinates—by direct command.

Wartime Casualty

MAJ. GEN. BENNETT E. MEYERS is going to get what he has coming to him for persuading a wartime business associate to tell a senate committee lies about the general's secret business affairs. The associate will be tried for telling the lies.

Gen. Meyers also faces tax-fraud charges, a slander suit, a possible court-martial and other legal complications growing out of his weird conception of his wartime responsibility as deputy purchasing chief for the Air Forces. He has been deprived of his military rights and decorations by the war department. There isn't much more that could be done to punish him.

It does not condone his actions in any way to say that he was a typical wartime casualty—one of a minority of citizens who took advantage of the confusion of the war effort to make money in ways that can't stand the light of investigation. He was not, of course, the only one. But to date he is the most conspicuous public example of what happens when wartime "makes the gittin' good." A few will yield to temptation, hoping to get away with it. Gen. Meyers didn't get away with it.

Primary in Nebraska

IN ADDITION to having a unicameral legislature and a streamlined government that is the envy of other states, Nebraska has a unique presidential primary. Only 100 signatures in each congressional district are required to place a name on the ballot. Once the petitions are filed, only court action can take it off.

Nebraska's primary April 13 will give the electorate a chance to ballot on all the principal candidates. The state's preference may not coincide with the nation's, but at least there will be no question about sentiment in the Cornhusker state.

It Takes More Than Money

AN Associated Press dispatch from Shanghai says it's the consensus among neutral foreigners and independent Chinese there that supplies to help China resist Russian-backed Communists won't mean much unless the country's will to fight can be bolstered. The dispatch explains that the Chinese have been kicked around so long that their spunk is gone. It will take more than money to put them on their feet.

The will to fight back in the face of heavy odds, to work when it would be easier to loaf, to sacrifice when it would be more comfortable to sit tight is something the United States can't send abroad. All it can send abroad is tangible proof of encouragement to people who have proved they are willing to try. There is no magic in the Marshall plan or any other plan for helping foreign nations retain their sovereignty. The magic must come from the beneficiaries of the assistance—from their hearts, not from American pocketbooks.

He Should Know

WRITING on "How To Beat Communism" in Collier's magazine, Walter Reuther says, "You can't beat communism by throwing embarrassing questions at witnesses in a congressional hearing. You can't slug it to death with a club or a slogan. You can't burn it at the stake. You have to show it up in the market place of ideas, expose it by honest dealing. Communism breeds on poverty, hunger and insecurity."

Mr. Reuther says exposure of communism is far more effective than repression. In view of his success in combating communism within the United Auto Workers, his advice shouldn't be taken lightly by democracy's proponents

Scanning the Record

By George E. Sokolsky

Jan Masaryk—He Couldn't Be Another Tito.

DIG and gay was Jan Masaryk. A cosmopolitan, half-American by birth, he was at ease at home in New York and in London or his own Prague. He and Eduard Benes were the authors of their country's Janus-faced policy—the policy of looking east and west simultaneously.

And now he is dead. It will long be argued how he came to die so suddenly at the age of 61. We do know that it was through a window, but not whether he jumped out of that window the way Japanese commit hara-kiri to save their honor and for the glory of their race, or whether he was thrown out by murderous opponents. We do not know whether he was killed before he was thrown from the window or whether that was left to the inevitable — a word the Marxists love.

SOKOLSKY

At any rate, he is dead. Jan goes to his maker to ask forgiveness for his sins, for he believed that he could save his country by appeasement and he has lost his country by appeasement—lost it perhaps irrevocably. When he became conscious of Czechoslovakia's fate, what could he do? To oppose Stalin would mean that he would be sent to some such place as Yakutsk where he could sit in servitude with other so-called democrats to discuss what might have happened had they been wise before as after the treachery. Such a life was not for Jan Masaryk.

Couldn't Accept Alternative

The alternative was to be another Tito or Dimitrov, a Quisling of a foreign power, a slave, a liar, a scoundrel, a thief of his own people's bread. That Jan Masaryk could not do. And so he died.

What has happened to Jan Masaryk may happen to the Pope after April 18. For should Togliatti take Italy, what greater prize could Stalin have than the Holy Father? That would be proof that he indeed is a god-man. What a day it would be when the hammer and sickle fly over the Vatican and the paintings of Sistine Chapel are shipped to Russia as booty! That is the next step—and the world is quiet about it.

And what about our own Quislings who have discovered a charm in appeasement. Henry Wallace and his followers, sincere or opportunistic, Communist slaves or misguided appeasers, wise men who believe myths or morons who follow voices—they are like the Jan Masaryks of Czechoslovakia who play with the nation's life on the off-chance that their gamble will not bring to it a death by violence and shame.

Cause for Wonder

When I see men and women wearing big blue buttons with the name, Wallace, across it, I cannot help but wonder how long it will be before that blue is changed to red, before the dupes are turned into slaves.

Jan Masaryk could answer that question. His death answers that question. How many men have been killed for their beliefs since the oriental despot from the Caucasus sat himself on Ivan the Terrible's throne? Stalin had killed, by one process or another, nearly all the old Bolsheviks, including his peer and Lenin's associate, Leon Trotzky. He had killed every outstanding figure of the revolution that elevated him—every one that paved the way for his rise to power. Bukharin, Zinoviev, Kamenev, Tukhachevsky—the list is long and it is futile to pile name upon name, except to note the latest one, Jan Masaryk, who erred only in that he believed Stalin at all.

Lesson for All

And the lesson in all this for us is that those who still counsel appeasement are the enemies of this nation. Let us label them as such. They have willfully set themselves aside as associates of those who murder to achieve power. Let us treat them as such. When judges of our courts lean over backwards to give these Quislings the benefit of the doubt, let us not mistake fatuity for justice. It is too late not to recognize that these devils have voluntarily renounced the rights of man by becoming the slaves of a tyrant. Let us treat them with the contempt they fully deserved.

Farewell, Jan Masaryk. You died better than you lived.

Military Phase of Cold War

By Walter Lippmann

AFTER what has happened in Czechoslovakia and Finland the conflict with the Soviet Union can no longer be treated as a cold war waged by propaganda, infiltration, influence, and indirect economic and military pressure.

The seizure of power in Czechoslovakia and the incorporation of Finland within the Soviet military sphere must be regarded, it seems to me, as strategical actions, planned by military men, in anticipation of war.

For Czechoslovakia and Finland were already safely within the Russian diplomatic orbit. But from the Soviet point of view they were not securely within the Russian military system. In the conduct of war the Kremlin could not count upon them completely.

LIPPMANN

The Czechs, though in the main sympathetic to Russia, are democratic and western by tradition and in their economic connections. The Finns are not only a democratic people with a western culture but they are profoundly and instinctively anti-Russian. Thus these two countries are vulnerable and incalculable elements.

Yet both are of critical military importance. Finland is the key to the Baltic sea and Scandinavia, and to all the northern approaches to Russia. Czechoslovakia, which contains the famous "Bohemian Quadrilateral," dominates the Danube valley, lies on the flank of Austria and of Poland, and athwart the roads to the Adriatic and to southern Germany.

Finland and Czechoslovakia have always been, and still are, two of the three positions of the highest strategical importance to Russia. The third is Turkey. All three must be held securely to defend Russian territory and all three are necessary to the military expansion of the Russian empire.

Stalin Takes Hand

The seizure of power in order to suppress the democratic liberty and national independence of the Czechs must be taken to mean that, in the minds of the rulers of Russia, military considerations now have priority. The intervention of Stalin himself in the demands upon Finland may be regarded as evidence that the Kremlin no longer thinks that the issues of the great conflict can be settled by the cold war.

From the general ideological and diplomatic conflict Stalin has always held himself in some degree personally aloof, perhaps because he is too much the realist to believe that the great issue of power can be decided apart from military power.

The measures which he has taken in Prague and Helsinki are not ideological and diplomatic. They are military measures of the kind with which Stalin has always identified himself and they were undertaken not for the satisfaction of expanding Communism but in order to fortify and increase the military power of the Russian state.

The gravity of this development is unmistakable. It can only be treated as signifying that Stalin also believes what Mr. Churchill predicted a few weeks ago, what Gen de Gaulle has been saying for some time, that events are moving toward a climax, and that a military showdown in the field of power is coming.

This does not mean that war is imminent or unavoidable. But it does mean that the evolution and outcome of events will now be determined by the military considerations which would really count if the showdown ended in war. That is to say, from now on the issue is whether the balance of military power can be made to favor the Soviet Union or the western nations.

If it turns decisively against the one or the other, the stronger coalition will offer the weaker the choice between concessions and resistance. If the balance remains even and indecisive, a negotiated settlement by compromise could bring about a truce and a modus vivendi.

In reality, therefore, the struggle is now a race for military advantage—for strategical positions, for allies, and for the development of potential into actual military power. The seizure of Czechoslovakia is the occupation of a great fortified base in the center of Europe; potentially it was already part of the Russian military system but it will not become an actual part of it.

Thus the game is no longer being played with tokens, with influence, with gestures, with ideas, with paper guaranties, and with potential power. It will have to be played with real power, with weapons that have been manufactured, with reserves that have been trained and can be mobilized, with alliances that are serious, and on ground that is held firmly and securely.

For when the showdown comes, as it will in the fairly near future, the men who will decide what the showdown shows, what the real balance of power is, what would be the risks and the prospects if it came to war, will not be the ideologists, nor the politicians, nor the diplomatists, but the military authorities in Moscow, in London, in Paris and in Washington.

Expensive Snow

Any New Yorker would vow the snowstorms that buffeted the city this winter were white, except the city's budget officials who see red—$8,654,349.95 worth.

That was the cost of removing 57.4 inches of snow between Dec. 6 and Feb. 21, sanitation officials said.

In other words, it cost $150,773 to remove each inch of snow that fell on the city in that time.

Road Test Ahead

From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Tuesday, March 15, 1938.

Possibility of a minor flood threat was seen in Marion county as rivers and creeks, already swollen, faced prospects of more rain.

Announcement of the location of a new company in Marion for the manufacture of precast concrete was made by the Marion Chamber of Commerce. The company was known as the Concrete Products, Ind.

Mrs. J. A. Lott, president-elect, and Mrs. D. J. Shelton, second vice president of the Marion County Federation of Women's clubs, were named delegates to the convention of the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs to be held at Columbus the following April, at meeting of the executive board of the federation held in the recreation room of the First Presbyterian church.

City council passed legislation paving the way for the city to take over administration of its own relief, beginning immediately. As the city's program was not planned in detail the old county relief staff was to continue to function under the guidance of city officials.

Mrs. Semah Carder, Mrs. Grace Lehner, Mrs. Ida Uncapher, Mrs. Minnie Van Asbeck and Mrs. Naomi McClaskey were named a committee to arrange for a district meeting here in April, at a meeting of Paramount council No. 37, Daughters of America.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Thursday, March 15, 1928.

Hope was virtually abandoned for Capt. Walter Hinchcliffe, famous air pilot, and his passenger, Elsie Mackay, who had attempted a westward flight across the Atlantic ocean from England to the U. S.

The Central Labor Union voted to cooperate with other organizations of the city in a "Marion Forward" movement launched by the Rotary club.

Shout in Stalin's Ear

By Joseph and Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

THERE is reason to believe that Secretary of State George C. Marshall's remarkable statement to the press was addressed primarily to an audience of one: Soviet Dictator Josef Stalin. For among many of Marshall's advisers there is a deep conviction that the real danger of war rests simply in the fact that the Kremlin, cut off from the world, is relying on wholly distorted accounts of the real situation in the United States. Stalin, it is believed, is therefore undoubtedly underestimating the gravity of the American reaction to such events as the Czechoslovak coup.

"You've got to shriek in Stalin's ear," one of the most astute foreign diplomats in Washington remarked recently. "That is the only way you will get through to the Kremlin." Marshall's statement, with its twice-repeated emphasis on the "passions" aroused in this country by recent events, was certainly in large part an attempt to shriek in Stalin's ear.

The reason why it is necessary to shriek to reach the Kremlin's ear is simple. It can be conveniently illustrated by the story of a Washington newspaper correspondent from a small neutral country. Some days ago, he was able, where an American newspaper man would certainly have failed, to make an engagement with a couple of Soviet diplomatts in Washington.

The Russians arrived together—Soviet officials abroad always travel in pairs, so that each may keep an eye on the other. The correspondent found them in a cheerful frame of mind. Indeed, they were almost gay. Things were obviously going well, they said, in Czechoslovakia. The newspaper man agreed that, from the Soviet point of view, things were no doubt going well. But he said, surely the Russians were concerned by the American "psychological reaction" which was what Secretary Marshall meant when he used the word "passions." The newspaper man pointed to the angry reaction to the Czechoslovak coup; the bitterness in every section of the press, from extreme right to extreme left, short only of the outright Communist publications.

Russians Unworried

The Russian diplomats brushed this comment aside, smiling. What the correspondent called the "psychological reaction" was just so much reactionary newspaper talk. The Americans knew that the balance of power had not really been changed and that was what mattered.

Then they turned to the American domestic scene. They pointed out that it was an election year. They mentioned the growing strength of Henry Wallace. And with a striking persistence, they reverted to the racial tension in the United States, and especially in the south. Oddly, they made much of the election of Earl Long, brother of Huey Long, to the governorship of Louisiana, which had just taken place, as a symptom of this paralysing racial tension. Everything they said clearly reflected a mental picture of a United States torn by political division and racial antagonism, rendered increasingly impotent as the people began to turn against the rule of their reactionary masters.

Moreover, this mental picture of a disintegrating United States seemed to be quite sincerely held. When the correspondent ventured to question its accuracy, the diplomats quoted American dispatches by the Soviet news agency, Tass. This interestingly confirms existing evidence that the Soviet Foreign Office depends largely upon Tass for interpretations of American politics. Tass correspondents regularly file long analyses, many of which are never published in the Soviet press. Intercepts of these dispatches have repeatedly shown that the Tass analyses are little more than paraphrases from "The New York Daily Worker," hardly a reliable interpreter of the American domestic scene.

Straw in the Wind

The experience of this correspondent is only the most recent straw in the wind among many. There is, of course, the well-known story of Soviet Ambassador Panyushkin, who, before he left Moscow for Washington, seriously implied to American Ambassador Bedell Smith that he expected Henry Wallace to win the election. In several other recent contacts between American officials and Russians, the impression has been borne out that the Russian rulers may be disastrously under-estimating the real American reaction to the Soviet expansionist drive.

The very nature of the Soviet ideology, which first lays down the truth, and then demands evidence to prove this truth, makes this sort of distortion inevitable. Typical was the query of the Communist-run Polish foreign office to a representative here: "when will the American depression begin?" The cautious diplomat for a Soviet satellite must of course reply: "Soon, and it will be terrible."

Among most of the experts, it is still believed that the Soviet leaders do not want war. But the clear danger exists that the Soviets will blunder into a situation which will make war inevitable, simply by reason of a distorted estimate of the real American reaction. Undoubtedly Secretary Marshall had this danger in mind when he made his remarkable statement. For somehow a way must be found to bring it home to the Soviet rulers that the United States will fight to prevent western Europe from coming under the domination of the Kremlin. If the past is any guide, that is the stark and simple fact.

The Once Over

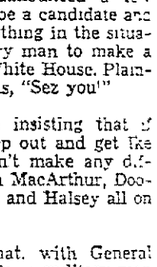
By H. I. Phillips

Everybody's Tryin' To Get Into the Act

THE race to be Mister Harassment or The Worrying Man, otherwise known as President of the United States, is on. Everybody coming into the ring at the drop of a hat, so to speak. The stewards may have to divide it into two heats to prevent overcrowding and piling up in the stretch.

* * *

General Douglas MacArthur is willing to go to the post. He is quite a man. G. Washington threw a dollar across the Rappahannock but MacArthur threw a brasshat across the Pacific Ocean.



PHILLIPS

* * *

The General has an advantage over all other candidates. The farther a man is away from Washington the easier it looks.

* * *

Even the White House, in these troubled days, probably appears quiet and restful as viewed through a curtain of kimonas.

* * *

General MacArthur offers himself to the Republicans if they insist and it sounds a little like a reiteration of his famous statement: "I shall return." Anybody who can wind up running Japan after Corregidor is not to be discounted, no matter how long or difficult the road.

* * *

President Truman made the announcement that he would like four years more of trials and tribulations the same day MacArthur's word came from Tokyo. In the last couple of years Harry has been through more fighting than Douglas.

Messrs. Dewey, Taft, Stassen, Vandenburg and other GOP hopefuls took the entry of General MacArthur with a show of minimum concern but no race is ever made any easier by traffic congestion at the post. The general is pretty old for the job as he is not far from 70. But he has color, magnetism and fame. And next to Eisenhower he is just about our best advertised American, always excepting Bing Crosby. If in a television campaign Douglas should be compelled to give away weight to the field.

* * *

Voters are wondering what it does to General Ike. The Abilene Bearcat announced a few weeks ago that he would not be a candidate and added that he did not see anything in the situation which required a military man to make a general headquarters of the White House. Plainly MacArthur's reply to this is, "Sez you!"

* * *

Democratic politicians are insisting that if they could get Truman to step out and get Ike to ride the Donkey it wouldn't make any difference if the Republicans ran MacArthur, Doolittle, Bradley, Spaatz, Nimitz and Halsey all on one ticket.

* * *

Could it come to pass that, with General MacArthur seeing an excuse for a military man camping on the Potomac, General Eisenhower might be prevailed upon to change his mind. We shall see what we shall see, as the fellow said as he looked into the wrong end of a telescope. But we hope the campaign will be recognizable as a political contest and not a major military event.

Stock Exchange seats are down to $46,000, a drop of $9,000 in a few weeks. There are too many ways to get a rough ride at lower cost.

Eastman Kodak reports record earnings for the past year with a net profit of forty three millions. Inasmuch as the stock has been going lower and lower and is one of the weakest on the board it would seem that nothing is as disturbing as excellent income these days.

Louis E. Stoddard, who died in California the other day, was one of our boyhood heroes back home ...The Stoddard mansion on Prospect Hill was the community wonder....Louis was the city's most colorful sportsman and of the first polo ponies the homefolks ever saw he was a figure for movies... He became interested in polo on a trip to England and was close to being the father of the game in this country, playing for years as the star of the American team in the international matches.

Add similes: He looked as battered as if he had been liberated.

RETURN ENGAGEMENT

In tears and pain
As Adolf Hitler
Walks again!

Oh, hear him laugh
With shake of head
"The dopes all think
That I am dead!"

Press Release

By TRUMAN TWILL

No one has demanded to know if Truman Twill will run for a presidential nomination in 1948. There have been no inquiring reporters, no probing junketeers from far places to get the inside dope. But the answer is no.

In the first place, the idea of sitting on a porch attached to the second floor of the White House is repulsive. It would be too much like a $1.10 seat in the balcony. Truman Twill and family will continue to do their porch-sitting anyway, on a first-floor level where they can see what goes on.

In the second place, the custom of nipping off on a yacht for a rest every whipstitch is repulsive. Yachts are for yachtsmen, not for landlubbers who get whoopsy at the sight of any motion in water higher than a four-inch wavelet lapping at the shore of a country pond.

In the third place, the necessity of posing for pictures with visiting firemen from all over is repulsive. The head man of the United States is expected to look dapper and in love with his work. It's no job for a photographic subject that looks like a quince.

In the fourth place, the practice of giving away the pens that are used to sign important documents is repulsive. Truman Twill has no pens to give away to anybody who does not produce the equivalent in folding money.

In the fifth place, the unwritten rule that the White House and surrounding grounds should be enlivened by the presence of one dog is repulsive. If the Twillery moved into the presidential residence it would have to take along its livestock—two dogs, one turtle. Voters in upper New York state and the Dakota badlands wouldn't like this.

In the sixth place, the time-honored custom of having to talk once a year about the state of the nation is repulsive, because it would be a shock to hear the No. 1 boy bust out with a declaration he could see nothing wrong that couldn't be fixed up by a little ordinary honesty and common sense. This would set off a depression and wipe out his chances of reelection. The party bosses would be mad as wet hens.

In the seventh place, it's unlikely as of the present time that anyone named Truman could be elected to the presidency anyway so why waste time and money to make the effort? If nominated, Truman Twill would not accept. If elected, he would not serve. Anyone see any loopholes in that statement?

500 ATTEND O.S.U. CONCERT

Symphonic Choir Sings Under Sponsorship of Harding Music Group.

Approximately 500 persons heard the concert presented Saturday night by the Ohio State university symphonic choir in the Thomas A. Edison Junior High school auditorium.

Prof. Louis H. Dierks, a member of the Ohio State music faculty since 1933 as head of vocal work in the department of music, directed the nationally known choral group of some 50 voices in highly classical compositions, some of which were written to words from famous poems, and other lighter airs.

Highlighting the program were ballet numbers with unaccompanied chorus as background, known in the choir as Orchesis. A group of six dancers interpreted the texts of the songs sung by the choir, some performing as soloists and several as duetists. Professor Helen F. Alkire of Ohio State is the head of the dance group. The choral ballet numbers were "The Juggler of Notre Dame" which is divided into two parts, "Ave Maria" by Arcadelt and "Alleuia" by Randolph Thompson, a Negro boat song, "No Bottom," Jacques Wolfe, and a Scottish song, "A Serenade" by Castelnuovo-Tedesco.

Choir Selections

The first group of selections by the choir consisted of the following: "Te Deum" by William Schuman, taken from the coronation scene of Shakespeare's Henry VIII, "O Brother Man" by Harold Drake, adapted from "Worship" by Whittier, "Evening" by Zoltan Kodaly, and "Be As a Lion" by Howard Hansen, the words taken from Merry Mount.

A baritone solo, "Sylvia" by Speaks, was presented by William Eyssen, accompanied at the piano by Lois Gainer, choir accompanist. As an encore, he sang "Cargoes" by Tom Dobson.

The last group of numbers by the choir included "The Pines of Home," Morton Luvaas, "Railroad Reverie," John Sacco, "I Wonder As I Wander," and several encores. They closed with "Carmen Ohio," an arrangement by a choir member, Marvin George.

Miss Janis Jones, daughter of L. G. Jones, who is director of the Harding a cappella choir, is a member of the Columbus symphonic group. She is a senior this year at Ohio State.

Entertained at Supper

Preceding the concert, the Harding High school a cappella choir which sponsored the Columbus choir's appearance, entertained with a potluck supper at the Emanuel Lutheran church. This was attended by about 125 persons. At this time, a short program was presented by the Harding choral group. The choir sang "A Dream within a Dream" and "Dark Waters," and the male quartet and girls ensemble sang several selections. Jim Rea, choir president, presided as master of ceremonies.

The table from which the dinner was served was decorated with a gold staff on which was the clef sign, numbers marking the time, and lollipops forming the notes. Lighted green candles, the bases of which were surrounded with greenery and flowers, extended the length of the table. Place favors were vari-colored lollipops, the handles of which were covered with black paper forming notes with stems and making either eighth or sixteenth notes. School letters of each of the two schools, in their respective colors, were at either end of the room. The committee in charge of arrangements for the dinner was composed of Ann LaMarche, chairman, Nancy Ulsh, Mary Jane Ralph, Barbara Probst, Jim Bain and Bob Dickason.

VETERANS REFUSE TO PAY ON LOANS

By The Associated Press

BALTIMORE, March 15—Federal, state and city authorities are investigating veterans' housing complaints here.

Although the investigations have been under way almost a month, few findings have been disclosed.

About 2,000 veterans, meanwhile, have stopped payments on loans obtained to finance their homes. This action brought prompt replies from the various lending agencies.

One of the largest building and loan associations in the state told its contractors they must "do anything, reasonable or unreasonable" to satisfy the complaining veterans.

Also, the Loyola Federal Building and Loan association said it would grant no further loans "to any builder who has been unable to maintain the goodwill of GI homes buyers."

Later, Robert A. Bready, president of the Home Builders association of Maryland, warned that stopping payments would lead only to mass foreclosures.

Bready added complaints against home builders have "all the aspects of a smear campaign."

One builder—James Ashley of the Woodhaven Investment Corp.—said "it's beginning to look like some communistic activity."

But to date the veterans have stood firm in their intentions to cease paying their home loans.

Chief complaints of the GI home buyers are that their homes are not up to the plans and specifications under which they purchased them, that they do not come up to city standards and that they had to pay too much for them.

The veterans administration reported last month that Maryland veterans paid more than $800 above the national average price for new homes during 1947.

The VA said the average price was $8,200. But Maryland veterans, it added, have been paying an average of more than $8,000.

The investigations are being conducted by the federal bureau of investigation, the Baltimore grand jury and state's attorney's office.

SCHOOLS TAKE COUNT OF NEW 1ST GRADERS

Supt. Dickey Wants Figure To Plan Next Term.

In anticipation of a sharp increase in the number of children entering the first grade next fall, city school officials are attempting this week to "count noses" in order to be prepared for the influx, Supt. Lester L. Dickey said today.

The enumeration is to determine the potential public school pupils in Marion whose sixth birthdays fall between Jan. 1. and Dec. 31, 1948, inclusive.

The regular enumeration is usually conducted in May to provide figures on pupil enrollment as required by law to the county auditor and the state department of education.

However, the survey of potential first graders is being made now to provide ample time to secure additional seats and necessary equipment, Mr. Dickey explained.

Last fall when the current school year opened, first grade enrollment in the city's 11 elementary schools was 657 pupils, a gain of one over the September, 1946, figure. A high figure is anticipated for September, 1948.

School children currently enrolled are assisting with the survey, Supt. Dickey said. Realizing that many names may be missed, officials are asking that parents of six-year olds telephone the elementary school in their neighborhood or the schools office, 5293, if their children have not been reported.

An accurate count is necessary to determine the number of first grade teachers needed and to enable us to order additional seats and other equipment which must be purchased five or six months ahead of delivery, Mr. Dickey said.

6,500 Ohio Miners Join Walkout

By The Associated Press

BELLAIRE, O., March 15—About 6,500 of Ohio's 16,000 coal miners bought onion sets and spring garden seeds in town today instead of going to the pits.

The work stoppages came in support of the demand of the president of the United Mine Workers for pensions for the men and followed similar action in western Pennsylvania mines.

Four thousand of the Ohio total were idle in nine of the 21 mines in Belmont, Harrison and Jefferson counties. The rest were in the 11-county Hocking area of District 6 of the UMW.

Auto Accidents on Ohio Rural Highways Reach Peak in 1947

Special to The Star

COLUMBUS, March 15 — A record high for traffic accidents reported on rural state highways was established last year in Ohio, according to statistics compiled by the Division of Traffic and Safety and released today by Ohio Highway Director Earl L. Reeb.

With 17,431 accidents reported, 1947 was 26 per cent above the 13,835 of 1946 and seven per cent above the previous high year of 1941. Traffic deaths resulting from accidents increased by nine per cent over 1946. The totals were 748 and 690, respectively.

Director Reeb said about 40 per cent of the accidents were caused by speeding or driving too fast for conditions, any accidents, he said, were due to carelessness, such as driving on the wrong side of the road, improper passing and improper turns.

In 1947, there were four counties that reported more than 20 deaths on rural state highways. These counties were: Lucas, 31 deaths; Summit, 23 deaths; Trumbull, 27 deaths; and Wayne, 23 deaths.

Counties reporting no deaths on rural state highways were Auglaize, Cuyahoga, Henry, Morgan, Noble and Paulding. In Cuyahoga county, there are only 17 miles of state highways outside of municipalities, thus accounting for its inclusion in the list of counties reporting no deaths.

Almost half of the 1947 traffic deaths on rural state roads resulted from collisions of motor vehicles. One-fourth of the deaths were chargeable to non-collision or single vehicle accidents. Pedestrian accidents accounted for one of every five traffic deaths on rural state roads.

WASHINGTON, March 15 — The Army, Navy and Air Force waited today to hear who would do what with which weapons in another war.

Secretary of Defense Forrestal and the top commanders of the three services were expected to provide at least part of the answers, threshed out in four days of uninterrupted conference at the Key West, Fla., Naval base.

The military chiefs headed back to Washington last night.

The talks, ordered by Forrestal in an attempt to end long-standing arguments over the part each service should have in waging war, were carried on at the "Little White House" used occasionally by President Truman.

The same security that shelters the President cloaked the conferees and no inkling of developments came while the meeting was in progress. A bare announcement that the talks were concluded late yesterday shed no further light.

Hope To Hold Fair, Build New Stand

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS—In spite of the defeat last November of a $125,000 bond issue by which the Crawford County fair board hoped to finance a new grandstand at the county fair ground, the board today announced that a frame grandstand providing seating capacity for 2500 persons will be built. The stand will be financed by money from the sale of buildings left on the grounds by the Army after the ground reverted to the county following use during the war as a military training camp, plus a cash government settlement which totals approximately $355,000. The new grandstand will replace one destroyed by fire in 1940.

Plans for proceeding with a 1948 county fair are also being developed and the fair has been scheduled for September 6-9. A Junior fair will be held in conjunction. Harness racing has also been arranged for all of the four fair days.

TWO MEAT PACKERS REJECT ARBITRATION

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, March 15—Two of three major meat packers turned down yesterday an offer to arbitrate their wage dispute with the CIO United Packinghouse Workers who have called a nationwide strike for 12:01 a. m., tomorrow.

The arbitration proposal was sent to Swift & Co., the Cudahy Packing Co. and Armour & Co. but Swift and Cudahy quickly rejected. They said they were standing pat on their offer of a nine-cent an hour wage boost.

The union, which had originally demanded a 29-cent an hour increase for its 100,000 members said it would call off the strike if the companies would accept arbitration of the 20-cent difference.

Armour has not replied to the proposal but the union said it would arbitrate with that company alone if it accepted.

Ralph Helstein, union president, said the offer will be kept open until midnight tonight, one minute before the strike is scheduled to start. The proposal, he added, provides that the companies agree to immediate payment of their nine-cent offer retroactive to Jan. 12.

In turning down arbitration Swift said it considers the nine cents a "fair wage increase," and added it recently had come to terms with the AFL Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen of North America on that basis. The company said about 40 per cent of its employes are members of the AFL union.

Federal conciliators called another meeting for today in an effort to avert the strike which industry sources estimated would cut the nation's meat supply by 50 per cent and affect most consumers within a few days.

RAILROADS PROTEST CONSERVANCY LEVY

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 15—Members of the Scioto-Sandusky conservancy district filed suit today to restrain the Franklin county board of revision from hearing a complaint on a special tax assessment against 11 railroads.

Defendants are County Auditor Fred C. Dunn, County Treasurer Charles B. Norris, and C. P. Lauderbaugh, chairman of the county commissioners; Chesapeake and Ohio; Norfolk and Western; Baltimore and Ohio; Pennsylvania, Union Depot Co., Pennsylvania, Ohio and Detroit; Little Miami, Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis; New York Central; C. C. C. and St. Louis, and the Toledo and Ohio Central.

Conservancy district officials said they voted the three tenths of a mill levy against the railroads to finance operating expenses. The conservancy district also borrowed $160,000 in anticipation of money to be received from the levy, the officials added.

They said the railroads complained to the county board and asked for a hearing contending the assessment should be levied only on real estate.

Conservancy officials seek the assessment on combined personal property and real estate.

The railroads have filed similar complaints in 15 other counties:

Marion, Delaware, Union, Pickaway, Ross, Fayette, Sandusky, Seneca, Wyandot, Crawford, Pike, Vinton, Morrow, Highland and Scioto.

Harding Pupils Hold Pre-Easter Service

First of the pre-Easter services for Harding High school students was held this morning in First Church of the Nazarene across from the school. Attendance was 135. Theme for the service was "Finding God in Others," presented by Jim Nesper of the junior class Hi-Y club. He referred to the seas in the Holy land, the Sea of Galilee, which "receives and gives," and the Dead sea which "receives but does not give." He pointed out that "in our relationship with others we should be like the Sea of Galilee, give as well as receive. Too often we go to God only in emergencies, whereas God is willing and ready to help us at all times."

Co-chairmen for today were JoAnn May and Polly Biggert. They had charge of arranging the program. The Leader for today was Ruth Smith. Responsive reading was led by George Pluchel. Mrs. John Lacey played the piano for the hymns.

Mary Lou Swigart sang a solo, "The Lord's Prayer." She was accompanied by Mrs. Lacey.

MAYOR IS HOST. Richard Earl Cox, ex-Navy man, bathes his sons, James (right), 2, and Richard Jr., 1, in a $12.60-a-day room in the Waldorf Astoria hotel in New York. Cox moved to the hotel and announced he would pay $40 a month for the room and send the remainder of the bill—about $344—to Mayor William O'Dwyer. VET IN WALDORF FACES RECKONING

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 15—Today was a day of possible reckoning for Navy Veteran Richard E. Cox, the missus and the two kids.

The room rent was due at the Waldorf-Astoria, where they had spent a plush week-end.

Cox wondered whether the bubble would burst—sending the family back to its $16-a-month flat in Brooklyn, without hot water or a bathroom.

A lawyer telephoned yesterday to express his sympathy, but counseled the home-hunting veteran: "My friendly advice is to give up this whole idea. The law is all against you in New York."

But Cox told newsmen he was determined to stay on in the $12.60-a-day room—paying $40 a month and sending the rest of the bill to Mayor William O'Dwyer—until the family got decent housing or was removed.

Protesting the city had failed to provide quarters in a veterans housing project, and fed up with life in their cold-water flat, Cox moved into the swank hotel with the family on Saturday.

Latest word from the management was that the case would be "reviewed" today and that in the meantime "as far as we are concerned, Mr. Cox and his family are one of 2,000 guests here at the Waldorf."

Among the 2,000 are former King Mihai of Romania and his mother, Queen Helen.

RELIGIOUS TRAINING PUT UP TO BOARDS

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, March 15—State Education Director Clyde Hissong said today any action in Ohio as the result of the U. S. Supreme Court ruling on religious education would be up to local school boards.

The court ruled last Monday it was unconstitutional to use public school system to help any religious group spread its faith.

Dr. Hissong pointed out that the state education department does not have a religious education division. Any arrangement made in this state for religious education, he said, have been made through local school boards. "Local boards are in charge of local schools," Dr. Hissong said. "They are empowered under certain sections of the law to make such rules and regulations as may be deemed advisable for the proper administration of their schools.

"Classes in religious education in Ohio were organized in local school districts with the approval of local boards of education. It seems fair to assume, therefore, that any action which may be taken with respect to the recent Supreme Court decision should be taken by local boards.

The Ohio Council of Churches has advised the education department that 73,517 school children in 68 Ohio school systems are enrolled in religious classes sponsored by the council. The council has announced continuation of the classes until the actual meeting of the court ruling is made clear.

WAR ATMOSPHERE DEPLORED BY TAFT

By The Associated Press

AUGUSTA, Me., March [illegible]. Charging the administration "operating an atmosphere of war," Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) says he finds no justification for such war hysteria.

The Republican presidential candidate told a series of Maine meetings he had no information to indicate Russia was ready to move "militarily" beyond the sphere of influence which, he said, was fixed at Yalta.

He called upon President Truman and Secretary of State Marshall to tell congress and the American people if they had any information otherwise.

"We must restrain this growing fear of another war," Taft said. "* * * If war comes it should not be by active military aggression of other powers."

Taft is making a two-day swing through Maine seeking support from the Pine Tree state's 33 delegates to the national GOP convention. Maine's delegates, who are chosen at a convention of state leaders, traditionally go unpledged.

ERP Proposal Adds Nations to Program

By The Associated Press

PARIS, March 15—The 16-nation European conference was asked today to include western Germany in the reconstruction plan for the continent.

British foreign secretary Ernest Bevin made the proposal. French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault had told the delegates that Europe's "division has become aggravated today in a manner as fearsome as it is unfortunate." "Europe has been reduced to the 16 nations here," Bidault said.

French occupation officials in Germany announced German representatives from the French zone will take part in the conference. Indications were Portugal would propose that Spain also be included under the Marshall plan for European recovery.

Bevin announced a proposal "that the anglo-American zone and the French zone (of Germany) should be fully associated with the work of our continuing organization."

"We must cooperate together or perish individually," he said.

In hot climates it is difficult to maintain organic matter in the soil because it decays so rapidly.

30 DEAD IN PLANE ENTOMBED BY STORM

By The Associated Press

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, March 15—Storms threatened today to bury the last trace of a crashed Northwest Orient Airlines DC-4 which carried 30 persons to their death high up on towering Mount Sanford.

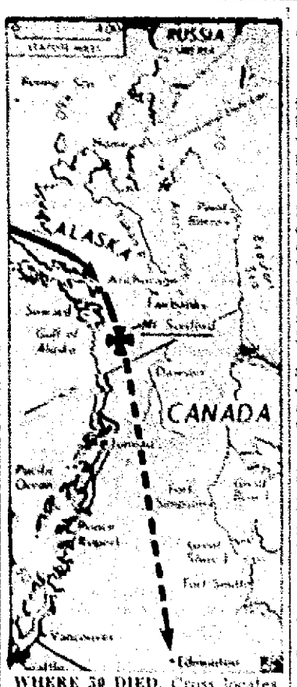
The forecast of bad weather increased the probability that the bodies of the 30 victims will remain entombed on the 16,208-foot peak.

The four-engined airliner, enroute from Shanghai to St. Paul, crashed Friday night on a glacier of the mountain 190 miles northeast of here.

Aboard the chartered plane were a crew of six and 24 seamen flying from Shanghai to New York. They were crewmen of the tanker Sunset, of the Overseas Tankship Corp.

The worst disaster in Alaska's aviation history, it was also the airlines' first since it began far east service more than a year ago.

Several flights planned to determine the feasibility of sending ground parties to the scene were cancelled yesterday when clouds obscured the mountain. There was no indication of a let up in the weather today.



WHERE 30 DIED. Cross locates Mt. Sanford in Alaskan mountains where wreckage of a chartered Northwest Airlines plane was wrecked. Enroute from Shanghai to St. Paul with 30 persons aboard, the plane left Anchorage, Alaska, for Edmonton, Alberta March 12. All aboard were reported to have lost their lives.

BACKLOG OF ORDERS SEEN AS SAFEGUARD

Serious Business Slip Unlikely Says Bank Report.

By The United Press

CLEVELAND, March 15—The backlog of orders in some durable goods industries makes a serious business recession unlikely, the Cleveland Trust Co. said today.

Citing steel and automobiles, the company said in its monthly Business Bulletin that "The backlog of orders in these industries is still large, and it would indeed be unusual for the country to experience any serious business recession with the output of automobiles and steel at or near their present levels."

The recent break in commodity prices, the company said, was a "correction of the overextended position of those prices."

"Beyond that," it added, "there is no very convincing evidence thus far of any pronounced slackening of business."

The company said that improved crop prospects throughout the world was one of the main reasons for the grain market slump.

Noting that "in spite of an ever growing population base, Cleveland Trust predicted that a 'static economy' will not be forestalled by many years."

"In order to maintain the standard of living in the 1950's and beyond the nation will need more of everything than was thought only a few years ago," the company said.

In another forecast of future trends the company said that improved living standards depend "greatly" on larger man-hour production.

"Rapid increase in wage costs per unit of production without a corresponding rise in output per man-hour has contributed strongly to the pressure for higher prices," the company said.

Roving Reports

By Hal Boyle

FORT BRAGG, N. C.

A HUNDRED and fifty combat veterans of the Eighty-Second Airborne division stood waiting as the slender man with two stars on his shoulder stepped to the microphone.

They were survivors of "The Devils in Baggy Pants" who made four combat parachute jumps in Europe and helped turn back the German tide in the Battle of the Bulge.

They were gathered to hear the farewell address of their leader, Maj. Gen. "Slim Jim" Gavin, who has been promoted to chief of staff of the Fifth Army in Chicago.

"I'm not here to say 'goodbye,' because I'll really never leave the division," said General Jim. "I'll always be here in spirit."

Hal Boyle

And for about five minutes he told them in simple soldierly language what it had meant to him to be their leader. He said their division "will never die," and that what they had done in its name gave them an immortality too.

The farewell marked another climax in one of the most brilliant military careers of the modern American Army.

It meant a step up for "Slim Jim," but it left 17,000 division troopers saddened at the loss of a commander they had loved for his youth, his friendliness—and his fighting ability.

I have met a number of generals who were liked personally by their men—and a number who weren't. But I never saw one who took their hearts more than 'Slim Jim,' who in 1944 became the youngest ground force general at the age of 37.

Gavin leaped first in combat. And rifle slung over his arm he moved always to the point where he was most needed.

AT 41 HE IS NOW the Army's recognized authority on airborne operations which he feels will play a determining role in future warfare.

It was like Gavin that when the time came for his final review, he should think first of the veterans who had followed him out plane doors over Sicily, Italy, France and Holland. So the 150 who are still with the division shared the review honors, facing him in two formations as all their newer comrades paraded by.

Later, after he told them farewell, some of the oldtimers came up to shake hands. Many had wives with them, and some carried small children in their arms.

"Remember that time I saw you in France, General?" said one veteran. "I'd lost my weapons, so you handed me over your own forty-five."

"Sure," laughed Gavin. "You needed it more than I did."

UP CAME BALD 53-year-old Staff Sgt. Charles (Pop) Burt to introduce his wife. Burt a cook, finally got to make the Sicily jump after he insisted.

"My men can't fight unless they eat. I'm gonna go along and see they have chow."

"Pop" jumped all right—but he landed on a stone and broke his foot.

When Gavin left his men stood around for a while talking about him—as they'll be doing whenever men of the 82nd gather.

"There never was a better man," said one trooper, and then gave him a compliment soldiers rarely pay their generals.

"He wouldn't ask you to do anything he wouldn't do."

That's why they'll never forget Slim Jim" Gavin.

THREE FIRES CAUSE DAMAGE OF $950

Two Homes and Auto Suffer Loss Over Weekend.

City firemen were called out on three blazes Sunday in a period of eight hours, resulting in a total estimated loss of $950.

Fire in a newly painted upstairs bedroom at the home of Israel Bausman of 390 Monroe street resulted in an estimated $400 damage to clothing at 8:24 a. m. Sunday. The fire burned virtually all of the clothing owned by the Bausmans, which was hanging on a rack in the room in plastic garment bags.

The fire was discovered by Mrs. Bausman when she went upstairs, shortly after arising Sunday morning.

Fire Chief Sifritt attributed spontaneous combustion as a probable cause of the blaze. West Center street and Mark street stations responded to the call.

A fire at the home of Walter Haines of 511 Patterson street Sunday at 7:55 p. m. caused by defective wiring in a wall plug in the living room resulted in an estimated $350 damage to a davenport and chair.

A penny in the fuse box was thought to have prevented the wiring from shorting out. The Haines family was not at home at the time of the fire. A neighbor discovered the blaze and called the fire department. Firemen from West Center and Mark street stations answered the call.

Sunday at 2:50 p. m. a motor vehicle owned by G. J. Gardner of 490 North Greenwood street caught fire just south of the County Children's Home on Delaware Pike when anti-freeze boiled out of the radiator onto the hot engine of the vehicle. Damage was estimated at $200. Firemen from Central station responded to the call.

Seniors Take Back Seat In AP All-Conference Teams

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 15—Seniors took a back seat today as coaches and sports writers selected for The Associated Press the 1948 Ohio conference and Mid-American Conference all-star basketball teams

Only one senior, Ohio university's Dick Snyder, was voted to the Mid-American first string, along with two sophomores and two juniors from the eight little loop

In the sprawling Ohio Conference two seniors forward Gene Fellmuth of Wittenberg and guard Bernard Cellar of Capital, won the coveted berths Two juniors and a sophomore rounded out the club

Although Cincinnati's Bearcats copped the Mid-American title by a country mile, they placed only one player on the all-star first team, sophomore Dick Dallmer moving into a guard spot. The Bearcats grabbed three second team berths and one on the third, however

Miami U. came up with a pair on the first team, center Bob Brown and guard Paul Schnackenberg, while Butler's scintillating Ralph O'Brien was the other choice at forward

No team was able to gain more than one spot on the Ohio conference 'varsity,' Eppa Rixey of Kenyon leading the over-all voting to win the center job by a hefty margin, Charley Buttermore of Ohio Wesleyan joining Cellar at guard, and sophomore Earl Shaw, Wooster's high-scoring ace, taking the forward job beside Fellmuth. The latter was the only repeater, gaining a forward position this year after placing at first team guard in 1947

REDS DROP CARDS; FACE BRAVES TODAY

By The Associated Press

BRADENTOWN Fla., March 15—Cincinnati's Reds, back in the win column after dropping St Louis' Cardinals 3-2, tangle today with the Boston Braves in the second of a six-game exhibition series.

Manager Johnny Neun named rookies Herman Wehmeier and Walker Cress to the mound today and backed them with experienced right-hander Johnny Hetki

The Braves trounced the Reds 16 to 3 last week in the second outing for Cincinnati Neun's club has a 2 and 3 record, with losses to the Braves, Detroit, and the Yanks. The Reds opened with a 13-3 victory over the Phillies

Lanky Ewell Blackell, making his 1948 debut, worked quickly and impressively, blanking the Cards for three innings, although touched for three hits.

Stan Musial got to him for a double but the stringbean hurler was in complete charge when the chips were down

Blackell, who led National league hurlers last season with 22 wins and eight losses was picked for hits by two first Cards to face him before Virgil (Red) Stallcup, rookie shortstop, and Bennie Zientara, at second turned Musial's hot grounder into a smooth double play to end the threat.

Frankie Baumholtz appearing the most improved Redleg, poked a double into left centerfield in the ninth inning to score Stallcup from first with the winning run

Enos Slaughter of the Cardinals had tied the score in the first of the ninth with a 350-foot clout over the right field fence.

Thinks Thorpe's Trophies Ought To Be Returned

The medals and trophies won by Jim Thorpe in the 1912 Olympics ought to be returned to him This is the opinion of Glenn (Pop) Warner, former coach of the old Carlisle (Pa.) Indian school The Amateur Athletic union withheld them on a professionalism charge, yet for the 1912 Olympic penthathlon event, ... since the second place Wieslander refused them, they should have been passed along to Thorpe," said Warner, in a west-coast dispatch. Pop added that two from the Indian school, Thorpe and Tewanna at the Olympics of 1912 won more points than any other school represented on the American Olympic team.

Warner cannot see how Thorpe's bit of summer vacation playing of baseball in North Carolina in those days constituted professionalism. The A. A. U. amateurs are permitted to receive money for their expenses, and Thorpe was honest enough to go under his own name, Warner pointed out.

Thorpe's prowess, especially in football had been widely known before 1922, when along with another all-American Indian athlete, Gupeu, he led a group of Indians comprising the Oorang team representing for a period a Marion team in the National Football league. The Indians were quartered at the Oorang Kennel farm of Walter Lingo at LaRue.

It is estimated that it...

SPORTS ROUNDUP

by Hugh S. Fullerton jr.

TAMPA, Fla., March 15—The Cincinnati Reds' big inducement to young ball players is a belief in holding farm operations to a minimum in order to give the athletes a quick chance at the majors. "That's a talking point in signing young players," says assistant-president Gabe Paul. "We may have to send them back to the minors, but they get their shot." . . . Just by way of illustration, Ewell Blackwell pitched in two games for the Reds in his first pro season and had only one year in the minors before he returned to stay. Grady Hatton stepped right out of the Army into the Cincinnati lineup; Kent Peterson had no minor league experience at all

THE NEW YORK YANKEES had a string of 28 innings of exhibition ball without allowing a run when they faced the Reds Saturday . . . Before the game Manager Bucky Harris, with mock solemnity, warned his pitchers, "The first man who allows a run goes to Newark; two runs he goes to Kansas City, three to Norfolk, four to Binghamton and five he's out of baseball" . Starter Spec Shea qualified for Binghamton in one inning—and you'll see him in a Yank uniform all season . . . The Cleveland Indians are trying to sign Jud Girard, the Green Bay Packers' rookie halfback, to play third base for their Green Bay baseball farm.

SEALS NICK FELLER, LEMON TO WIN 6-5

By The Associated Press

SAN FRANCISCO, March 15—With two straight defeats by Pacific Coast league clubs already against them, Cleveland Indians hoped for a change of fortune tonight against Oakland

The Tribe dropped a 6 to 5 decision to the San Francisco Seals yesterday despite the fact that Bobby Feller and Bob Lemon two of the club's front line hurlers were on the mound

A morning game with Oakland was rained out after two scoreless innings

Feller flashed a dazzling curve but made little effort to fire his fast ball past the minor league batters Working three innings, he came within one out of a scoreless performance

But with two away in the third the Seals pounded out three hits for as many runs

Lemon allowed another run in the fifth and the San Francisco club took advantage of two walks to score the tying and winning runs in the eight on one hit

Four of the Seals' eight hits were allowed off each Tribe hurler

Ironically two former Indians took prominent roles in Cleveland's defeat Mickey Rocco Indian wartime first baseman, drove in two runs with a double off Feller in the third. Gene Woodling, Akron player who patrolled the Tribe's outfield for a brief period several years ago hit a triple and scored a run against Lemon in the fifth

The Indians got five hits off three Seal hurlers with Manager Lou Boudreau driving in two runs to lead the attack. Scoring by the club was confined to two innings two men crossing the plate in the second and three in the fourth

A slight cold accompanied by a temperature kept Joe Gordon out of uniform

Favorites to Fight it Out In Ohio High School Regionals

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 15—The toll will be terrific this weekend in Ohio high school basketball regional championship play

Drawings made yesterday for the crucial contests in the eight regional events—four in class A and four in class B—pitted many favored quintets against each other in opening games

At Canton, in class A, two of the top teams will battle it out, Thursday night as Columbus Central boasting 23 victories in 24 starts meets Hamilton Catholic's fancy club which has copped 24 of 25 The Columbus team's lone blemish was a 34-33 setback at the hands of Columbus East while the Hamilton parochial school was beaten 40-38 by Roger Bacon of Cincinnati

Only Unbeaten A Team

Finlay, boasting the only clean record in class A—23 straight wins—must get by little Mansfield Madison at Toledo in Friday's opening round The Madison club, beaten twice in 22 tilts, breezed through the district with victories over rugged Mansfield High and Bellevue, the 1945 state champ

Two top teams must fall in class B at Athens opening regional round Friday as Bremen with 27 in a row tangles with Glenford, the 1941 champion, which has been reversed only twice in 31 contests At Youngstown two former state class B kings run into each other Thursday when Akron Ellet, winner of 18 of 19 and champion in 1944, meets North Canton, 1939 victor which has 21 victories in 26 starts

Another class B classic looms at Springfield as Enon, with 26 wins in 27 games, opposes Eaton which has dropped only two of 21.

Hamilton Catholic Favored

With the elimination Saturday night of Middletown by Miamisburg, 32 to 30, Hamilton Catholic is being touted as the No 1 favorite in class A despite the fact no parochial school has ever captured the crown The Middie defeat ended the two-year reign of the Butler county goliaths, halted their 1947-48 victory string at 21 games, and shut them out of the state finals for the first time in five years

Canton McKinley, five-time finalist in the class A chase but never a winner, has piled up 18 wins in 20 starts in its latest bid for the title The Bulldogs meet Cleveland Heights Friday at Youngstown where Canton South, formerly Canton Township, has the best record of 21-1.

NEWARK MAN FOUND DEAD

By The Associated Press

NEWARK, O., March 15—An inquest was ordered in the death of a Newark business man missing since last Monday. He was Edmond L. Bonham, 50. His body was found yesterday in his automobile parked near Adams Mills in Muskingum county. A hose ran from the exhaust inside the car, Sheriff Earl Francis of Licking county reported. Bonham had been ill recently, he added.

BOOST IN HUNTING LICENSE FEE URGED

Department Wants To Hike Permit Cost to $2.

The state conservation and natural resources division will attempt to have the cost of license to Ohio hunters doubled, from $1 to $2, according to news reports from Columbus. The campaign will begin with the mailing of charts to press and sporting groups. These charts have been prepared to show that Ohio gets less revenue per hunter than any of 13 comparable states.

O. H. Neimeyer of Prospect, state game protector, said today he had received no information of an official nature concerning the campaign. No record is available here as to the number of hunting and fishing licenses sold in Marion county.

Licenses are sold in the county at an estimated 60 locations by almost that many agencies. Under the present distribution system, sportsmen's groups may secure the licenses directly from the conservation division, place them with sub agents who do the actual selling for the groups and retain a 25 cent fee on hunting and a 10 cent fee on fishing licenses. The licenses also are sold by county clerk's office in each county seat. In this case the fee collected by the sporting groups may not be retained by the county clerk. The same fees are collected but are paid by the clerk into the county general fund.

The basis for the drive for an increase, as seen by division employes, is the increased expenses of the department. This stand was supported by Harry W. West, chief of the accounting division. He also forecast a 20 per cent decline in license sales for the year.

It will be up to the state legislature when it meets in 1949 to say whether the state's 35-year-old hunting license law remains unchanged. Fishing license fees were doubled last year by the lawmakers, raising the price from 50 cents to $1, plus a 10 cent fee to the writer.

The argument that Ohio gets less per hunter than other states has been reintroduced in the campaign for the increased rate, and statistics in support of this claim place Ohio as fourth in the nation in number of hunters and fourteenth in hunting revenue.

Statistics in support of the increase cite the lack of visitation to Ohio of foreign hunters as another cause of low hunting revenue.

Russian Consul Calls War Talk "Hysteria"

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 15—Yakob Lomakin, Soviet consul general here, says talk of war between the United States and Russia is "a crazy idea" and "hysteria."

Leaving LaGuardia field yesterday for Stockholm enroute to Russia for a vacation, he said, "We Russians do not believe in war, and we do not want war. We want peace."

Asked about war talk, he declared "It is impossible. It must not be. It is hysteria. The people do not want it."

Organizing Relief Groups in Counties

By The United Press

KENTON, March 15 — Church leaders from 18 counties have been invited to meet in Carey Tuesday for the purpose of setting up county-wide organizations for the promotion of the Christian rural overseas program (CROP). Counties to be represented are Hardin, Crawford, Hancock, Wyandot, Marion and 13 other counties. Organized six months ago, CROP is sponsored by Church world service and Lutheran world relief. Through the organization, gifts from America's rural folk are handled for shipment to the needy overseas. Distribution is made through church channels, solely on the basis of need.

In one shipment recently, CROP sent 5,000 long tons of wheat to Germany. The organization sponsored the Abraham Lincoln friendship train which collected 283 carloads of foodstuffs last month.

WATER IS AS FREE AS THE AIR

It most certainly is! No one would ever think of bottling the air to sell it to you for a nickel or dime.

Nor would anyone think of charging you for the water you find, for instance, in a shallow well. But, unfortunately, the old hand pump system leaves some doubt as to your health protection.

Luckily, though, trained scientists have stepped in to make sure harmful germs don't come your way. Your water supply is constantly tested and treated to insure its purity and safety. What's more, it's delivered direct to your home so you can have it whenever and wherever you want it.

The slight amount you pay for this scientific care and delivery can be measured in priceless health as well as convenience.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY

By AP Newsfeatures

HAROLD L. ICKES, born March 15, 1874, calls himself the "old curmudgeon." A Bull Moose Republican who turned Democrat after Harding's nomination, he backed the New Deal from its inception. He was Secretary of the Interior through the Roosevelt regime and until he resigned in a dispute with President Truman over an appointment. Noted for pugnacity, he has made many enemies but commands intense loyalties.

One Man's Opinion

By WALTER KIERNAN

"Kissing Jim" has been visiting New York . . . It did nothing to relieve traffic congestion.

* * *

Most girls denied interest in his visit but every time he aimed a pucker a target ran up.

* * *

There are many who disapprove Gov. Folsom's osculating but it must be said for him that he's kissing in a world which mostly features slugging.

* * *

It may never put him in the White House but if it does he'll know how to use that balcony as Shakespeare intended balconies should be used.

* * *

I heard one girl say "If Folsom is typical of the South why is Truman so sore at southerners?"

* * *

Her friends say "You've got it wrong . . . Harry isn't sore at anybody but he just can't seem to explain it."
